House Launches Video Bio Series

As part of an ongoing effort to increase communication between members and constituents, the Arkansas House of Representatives is releasing video biographies of its members. The video series is titled "Meet the Rep."

In the videos, members will describe what makes their district unique. They will also share stories about their professional and family life back home. Some members tell us about their hobbies and interest away from the Capitol.

The House Communications Office will release the videos one at a time throughout the remainder of the 89th General Assembly via our social media and website arkansashouse.org. Once released, the videos will be made available on the member's individual bio section on the House website.

You can follow the House on Twitter at @ArkansasHouse or on Facebook at www.facebook.com/ArkansasHouse.

This week we introduce you to Representative Eddie Armstrong.
